Travelling safe - Why everyone needs travel assistance and insurance

The changing landscape of the travel industry has ensured ease of travel like never before. Travellers can now explore more destinations and experiences than ever before, but they also need to travel smart. A wise traveller is one who is always prepared for the worst, be it theft or accidents. A simple step towards safe travel is investing in good travel assistance and insurance. The anecdote that follows will illustrate why every new age traveller should opt for travel insurance.

Mrs Nanda Bose left with her husband for a cruise trip through Europe. As the cruise docked at Santorini, she and her husband started exploring the place, revering the stunning landscape.

Though there were cable cars available for transportation, they decided to take the 588-odd flight of stairs to the port in order to avoid the long wait. That decision, unfortunately, terminated their trip, as Mrs Nanda Bose tumbled from one of the stairs and fractured her right shoulder. She was escorted back to the cruise immediately where she underwent necessary treatment for the fracture. Thankfully, they had covered their trip with TrawellTag Cover-More's global assistance and insurance services. The emergency assistance team helped them with the procurement of all the required invoices.

Even though Mrs Nanda Bose and her husband's cruise trip ended abruptly because of the unexpected accident, their TrawellTag Cover-More assistance and insurance ensured that she recovered completely before returning to India.

Reiterating Mrs Bose's point, Parul Mondal, a travel consultant from Kolkata said, "TrawellTag Cover-More always ensures that the customer gets what they deserve and this is what inspires travel aggregators like us to come back to them for travel assistance and insurance services."

So, do not forget your travel assistance and insurance before you embark on a new journey.
